All Saints' Church

*Loving Jesus,
Loving Our Communities*

Rhythms punctuate our lives, from the time the sun rises and sets, to the seasons of the year. Since the beginning of Christianity these rhythms have been used to give scaffolding to men and women wanting to come closer to God.

In the Church of England for many years Christians have punctuated every day with prayer, morning, noon and night. Each emphasises the rhythm that the day will follow including helpful phrases:

- Morning prayer includes - 'As we rejoice in the gift of this new day'.
- Evening prayer 'As our evening prayer rises before you, so may your mercy come down to us and set us free to sing your praises'.
- Night prayer 'The Lord grant us a quiet night and perfect end to the day'.

Every week is punctuated by a day with a difference; the sabbath. This day with a difference is being reclaimed in many churches, with people finding new ways to experience rest and focus on God.

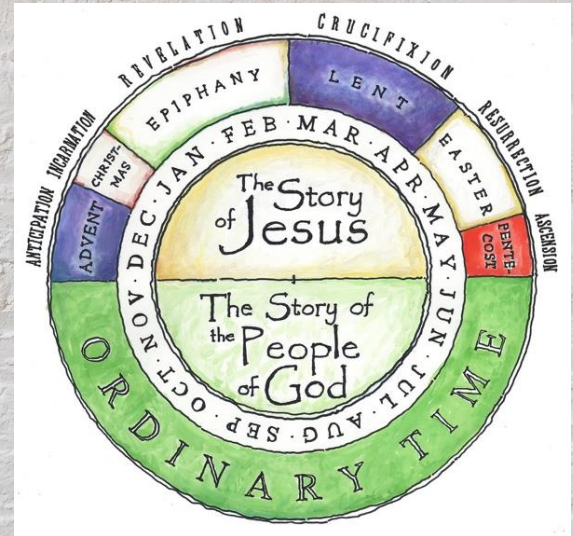

The writer John Mark Comer writes how in his home they all gather to pray and light a candle, putting all mobile phones in a box at the start of the sabbath to prepare them to rest. Jews pray at this point in the week how God has “Favoured us and given us in love his holy Sabbath as an inheritance, as a remembrance of the act of creation”. This day is a gift to us. A way of stopping us harming ourselves by being so dominated by busyness that we lose who we are as children of God.

The year too has rhythms which can help us. Times to celebrate like Christmas and Easter Sunday. Times to prepare our hearts like Advent as we wait for Christmas. Times like the one we are in in Lent to say sorry, to remember our mistakes and ask God to forgive us and form us more to being like him.

In many churches like ours these daily, weekly, and yearly rhythms are perhaps not as well-known and used as they would be in more traditional churches; but there can be value in them. In them we find a safeguard from being more and more busy for more and more of the time. In them we find variety in how we approach God and perhaps they act to give us rhythms which make our pursuit of God fresh.

So can I commend you if you are seeking new ways to encounter God, borrow from our history as Christians, from our history as the Church of England, and from the natural patterns given us as God’s good gifts to us.

St Paul's – The Road Goes On

It is great to know that you are praying for us and supporting us as we continue in building church here at St Paul's. It is wonderful to know that we have Jesus, who binds us together as part of his body.

Serving God at St Paul's is awesome! We can really see God at work here. From the kids in our youth club beginning to make right choices in life, to our wonderful toddler group where community worship and mission seem to just work, or our regular coffee mornings or other community events that reach people and connect with them to help them to see more of God's love in this part of town.

God has grown the church family: we now have a community of nearly 60 people, and we have needed to start a new service to make room. The congregation is now much younger. About half are new Christians or returning to church. Our life group has experimented with planting a café and prayer space (called Oasis) in our local community centre and this has proved a valuable place for people who need it as well as a great lesson in taking risks for Jesus.

It can be easy to let some of the challenges blind us, despite God's goodness here. We are growing fast and needing to keep pace with growth in our structures, relying on a small team of volunteers which can be exhausting. Whilst we have some great ministries happening, we know that our ability to afford them financially is still very dependent on money from the central church which has a time limit on it. But we put our trust in God and know that where he wants things to happen, he will motivate people to pray, to give, and to serve with his love.

Do keep praying for us that we may continue to see people coming to Jesus, and for his provision. I'll leave you with some words from one of our older members: "I used to tell people I was thinking about them. Now, I tell them that I am praying for them."

Ukraine Family Support Café

It's hard to believe that it is a year since the war in Ukraine started and some time since the first meeting of the café in May. The meetings have been invaluable for hosts and guests as they arrived and chatted and picked up advice on various aspects of settling in. The café has also been regularly attended by staff from Stockton Council who have been available to answer questions or give advice.

It has been good to build friendships with hosts and guests, and our team of helpers has expanded. This has meant there have been enough people to circulate and get to know people and there have been some opportunities for prayer. We had a wonderful Christmas Party which was hosted in the Church with tables set around the edge and an amazing mixture of traditional foods from both countries. We had dancing and games and a Bible Reading and reflection which was led by Matt.

More recently we have also had other visitors including the local Police Community Support Officers and a representative from Preston Park talking about their Competition to design traditional Pysanky Eggs. The winners are going to be made into large eggs to be positioned around the park.

As guests are gradually settling into life in the UK their needs have changed, but having a safe and friendly place to come and meet others has been important to them. Please pray for the team as we consider how to develop the café and identify ways for Ukrainian guests to integrate into our church activities and to build wider friendships in the community. The Facebook page for the Support Hub now has over 600 followers and we would like to build on sharing information and events that will be helpful for people. If you would like to get involved, then please do chat to Judith or myself or email the church office. It would be great to have more people join the team.

Rev Rachael Phillips update

What a lot has changed for us since we were part of the All Saints' church family. Elizabeth is enjoying Forest School and will start reception at a local primary this September. Dickie recently left paid work to become a stay-at-home Dad. This way we'll actually see each other! He's really enjoying the change of pace.

Ministry is predictably full-on but it's also incredibly life giving and fun. Mine isn't a normal curacy as I'm planting a church, and so in that respect I'm a bit of a guinea pig. Our Diocesan staff are watching with interest to see how it works out. Juggling regular curacy stuff whilst starting up a brand-new church from nothing has its challenges, but God is with me.

I'm blown away by the prayers I'm seeing answered and the pace at which this new church is moving. There's no way I could have done all this had God not been ahead of us and alongside us every step of the way. The experience has really built my faith up and helped me to rely always and only on God.

As recently as December I was anxiously praying 'God please send us some people' (at that time it was just me and the vicar!) Then in early January one cold, dark night, we marked the 100-day countdown to the church launch around a fire pit and 60 people came. And last night, to celebrate progress so far, we gathered the church's leadership team and founding members and counted 14 of us, with a further 6 who couldn't make it. God has sent us some people indeed. And what an eclectic bunch! Several families from Hillsong, an Anglo Catholic, a family who were part of the original 24/7 prayer movement and lived in a religious community, and a core of charismatic evangelicals from Greenside Parish.

We believe embracing diversity will be our strength, and I'm sure we'll have to learn great lessons in tolerance and grace and God's aptitude for creativity! One thing at least we all agree on: Jesus is the centre of all we do.

What does the PCC actually do?

The PCC or Parochial Church Council, are a bit like the governing body for the church. We are the trustees of the church for the charity commission. We are a group of church members elected by the church at the Annual Church Meeting. If you've never been to a PCC meeting here's a snapshot of what our monthly meetings are like.

We always start with a time of prayer and reflection, giving thanks for what God has been doing in our church recently. Our agenda has some regular items like church finances, safeguarding and maintaining the church buildings, decisions are prayerfully made about the best way to be good stewards of our resources.

As well as our regular agenda items each meeting, we focus on different elements of our mission. We have working parties within the PCC that meet separately to co-ordinate different aspects of church life like, social, property, discipleship, community, and environment. As part of our monthly meetings, we hear from these groups and what they have put in place. We pray and listen as we discern God's plan for our church. Sometimes there are items that we are asked to discuss by the Deanery or Diocese and have a wider implication than just All Saints.

PCC minutes are available for you to read on our website.

If you are interested in becoming a member of the PCC at the upcoming APCM why not grab a PCC member and ask some more about it. It's not that scary honestly.
